TENNESSEE BONDS are strong and active in New York, closing last evening at 70f for the old issue and 71 for the new.

THE Banner has not yet hoisted the name of John C. Brown for Governor. Is The Alabama Treaty Turned Over to it for him or against him.

THE Bartlett (Tenn.) Enterprise says of the action of the late Democratic State Convention: "This is the key-note of Democracy for the approaching campaign. Greeley and Brown are the magic names to which our people will rally."

THE Bunner says of the Tennessee delegation to the Cincinnati Liberal Republi-

"They were gentlemen, the peers of any in the late Democratic Convention in this city. It was indeed a far more disinter-ested, honest and truthful representation of the real sentiments of our people reecting the Presidential canvass.

May we ask who these gentlemen were -not by way of reproach, but for information. Who were these "peers of any in the late Democratic Convention"? These truthful representatives of the real sentiments of our people respecting the Presidential canvasa"?

There were from East Tennessee Mr. Ochs and Col. Bob. Byrd to set off against, in the Democratic State Convention, Mr. Reives, of Greene, Mr. Blevins, of Hawkins, Col. McGhee and Col. Fleming, of Knox, Chancellor Key, of Hamilton, and many others too numerous to mention. In Middle Tennessee we hear of the Banner's peers and representative men, Mr. Ruhm, Chancellor East, Col. Paramore, Superintendent of Gen. Maney's Pacific Railroad to Lebanon, Gen. Thruston, formerly of Gen. Thomas' Staff, and ex-Senator Fowler, a very worthy gentleman, to setofiagainst Gen. Dibbrell, of White, Lamb of Fayette, Trousdale of Sumner, ex-Gov. Neill S. Brown of Nashville, A. B. Martin of Lebanon, Hon. D. B. Thomas of Humphreys, Hon. Ed. Ewing, Gen. Palmer and others of Rutherford, and a long list of others, from Middle Tennessee. We do not know who were the Liberal Republican delegates from West Tennessee that the Banner intends to compare as peers and representative men with Hon. Ben Lea, Mr. Livington of Brownsville, Mr. Cameron of Jackson, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Magiveney, and tells him not to be backward in joining Col. Galloway of Memphis, and a host of any similar protest set on foot by his Diploothers. It would be interesting for the matic confreres. Banner to print in parallel columns the neers and representative men of the two Conventions so that the people might see how the delegates to the two Conventions Bayonet Election Bill Passes Senate. compared.

MR. VOORHEES' SPEECH. Nothing could establish more conclusively than the recent speech of Mr. Voorhees | the enforcement act came up as unfinished in the House of Representatives the necessity of Democratic organization to be enforced by a National Democratic Convention. It cannot be denied, it would be suicidal folly to deny, that there are thousands of Northern Democrats who will never support Mr. Greeley unless influenced, aye, controlled by that potential agency, a Democratic convention. Should the Baltimore Convention speak, as it will, a favorable word for the Cincinnati ticket, the united Democracy of the North and the West will stand as firmly for him as the Southern Democracy. If Mr. Voorhees or any other Democratic Congressman should fail to hear and heed the voice thus spoken, his tongue in the canvass will be as though it were paralyzed. The Northwestern Democracy have never been disfranchised, deprived of the power of bolding office, refused the right of habeas compus, compelled to take choice between Senter and Stokes, or they could not hesitate, as Mr. Voorhees does, to choose between Greeley and Grant. The Democracy of the South are overwhelmingly for Greeley and Brown, and they stand ready to give by practical examples a reason for the faith that is in them.

THE ACTION OF THE TENNESSEE DEMOCRACY.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, edited by Robert Tyler, son of the late President Tyler, has the following in its issue of May 11: "TENNESSEE LEADS THE WAY .- The following important dispatch came to us pesterday at noon: "Democratic State Convention met yester-day. The resolutions adopted in effect endorse Greeley and Brown. Gov. J. C. Brown has been

"We are of the opinion that the action of Tennessee will go very far to settle the question of the ratification of the Cincinnati nominations, by the National Democratic Convention. We begin to think that Horace Greeley will be the next President of the United States."

The Macon (Ga.) Telegraph and Messen-

"It is not to be disguised that this action of Tennessee, striking out with such boldness and determination, at a moment when doubt, and hesitation, and anxiety pervade the Democratic masses to a greater or less degree from Maine to Texas, can hardly fail of producing a strong moral effect in favor of the Liberal ticket." The Richmond (Va.) Dispatch says:

"The Democratic State Convention of Tenne takes the lead in endorsing Greeley and Brown. She has only anticipated the other Southern States in doing what they intend doing. As it is not the custom for the rill to swallow up the river, but for the rill to lose itself in the river, the small body of impracticables will lose itself in the grand combination which will bear the Liberal Republican ticket through the approaching political struggle to victory.

The March of Centralism-The National Gobbler to Seize Immigrants on

The President to-day sent a message to the Senate and House of Representatives, urging that rational legislation be had on the subject of immigration, to secure, "First, such room and accommodation on ipboard as is necessary for the health and infort and such privacy as will not comto so much vice and misery; and second, legislation to protect them on their arrival at our seaports from the knaves who are ever ready to despoil them of the little they are able to bring with them."

The President says he does "not advise national legislation in affairs that should be regulated by the States, but I see no subject more national than this." The basis of the President's argument is that "an immigrant is not the citizen of any State or Ter-ritory on his arrival, but comes here to become a citizen of the great Republic," etc.

Greeley Stock Rapidly Advancing. Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial. WASHINGTON, May 7 .- Greeley gains ound. As Senator Trambull well said, his cause is strengthening day by day. The shout that has gone up for him from the South has had a telling effect. He is developing far more strength there than expected. The Administration favorites, officeholders and hangers-on, are becoming alarmed. They run from one to another with messages of dubious encouragement. They have one hope with which to prop ap their waning fortunes. If that goes, all will be gone, and they will be flat. The peg they hang this single hope on is strong, and may last them some time. LEXINGTON, May 14.—The exciting sport of Monday gave additional interest to the proceedings of to-day, while the national eputation of two at least of the entries in the second race gave promise of achievements far above the average.
